

Partners

Swedish Association for Distance Education SVERD

Norwegian Association for Distance and Flexible Education NADE

The Estonian Information Technology

Akademikernes Arbejdsløshetskasse AAK, Denmark

Velvakandi, Island

Finnish Association for Distance Education FADE

Vilniaus Kolegija, Lithuania

Financed with support from:

BOLDIC Perspectives Online

Nordic-Baltic sharing of experiences in ICT supported flexible learning

Better access to new ICT tools

Structure and methods for online seminars and meetings

Networking using Web 2.0 services

Annual Boldic conferences

www.boldic.net

BOLDIC Award

The BOLDIC Award was created as a part of the original BOLDIC project ending in 2005, in which the award was supposed to be a tool for showcasing best practices and successful experiences in adult education.

It aims to honor people and organizations excelling in the ODL field (Open and Distance Learning) and e-learning.

What can be awarded?

Any ODL-activity connected to adult learning meeting one or more of the following criteria

- Teaching/learning arrangements
- Support systems (for delivery of learning content or/and learning support)
- Development of activities, content or understanding within the ODL area.

The activities should

- Be transferable to the whole BOLDIC region
- Be learner focused
- Facilitate blended or flexible learning
- Be innovative
- Be scalable
- Have a sustainable strategy
- Have a sensible and appropriate approach to technology
- Involve continuing evaluation

Both persons and organizations can be nominated

The nominees have to base their work in one of the BOLDIC partnership countries (or within the Nordic/Baltic area), but are free regarding partners based in other countries.

Priority 2009

Priorities 2009 – everything that can connect to the overall EU priority of Innovation and Creativity.